The Codex Zouche-Nuttall or Codex Tonindey is an accordion-folded pre-Columbian document of Mixtec pictography, now in the collections of the British Library. It is one of about 16 manuscripts from Mexico that are entirely pre-Columbian in origin. The codex derives its name from Zelia Nuttall, who first published it in 1902, and Baroness Zouche, its donor.

The Codex Nuttall is 11.22 meters in length, and is folded into 47 “pages” measuring approximately 24.3 by 18.4 cm. It was probably created around 1500. The codex is painted on both sides. These two different sides are very different in terms of both style and content. The Reverse (pages 42–84) is concerned with a single narrative, the biography of the Mixtec conqueror Lord 8 Deer “Jaguar Claw.”.

The Codex Nuttall is very difficult to understand and very little explanation of each plate is given. On the flip side, the pictures if studied carefully, are quite revealing and graphic in nature. As Meso-American art it is a wonderful depiction of Mixtex kings and their lives.

The Zouche-Nuttall Codex contains two narratives: one side of the document relates the history of important centres in the Mixtec region, while the other, starting at the opposite end, records the genealogy, marriages and political and military feats of the Mixtec ruler, Eight Deer Jaguar-Claw. This ruler is depicted at top center, next to his calendric name (8 circles and a deer’s head).

Código Nuttall El código Zouche-Nuttall es un de los documentos más espectaculares de todo Mesoamérica. Fue hecho seguramente por algún mixteco o mixtecos en algun lugar de la Mixteca Alta del estado de Oaxaca. Su fecha de elaboración es incierta pero es seguro que se pintó años antes de la llegada de los españoles.

Zelia Maria Magdalena Nuttall (6 September 1857, San Francisco - 12 April 1933, Coyoacán, Mexico) was an American archaeologist and anthropologist specialised in pre-Aztec Mexican cultures and pre-Columbian manuscripts. She discovered two forgotten manuscripts of this type in private collections, one of them being the Codex Zouche-Nuttall. She was one of the first to identify and recognise artefacts dating back to the pre-Aztec period.
