Slope: This selects the slope of the crossover filters, or how rapid the transitions are between frequency bands. Lower values will allow for more overlap between the bands, leading to less dramatic transitions between the rows.

Unity: When enabled, the individual bands' gains will always be compensated to maintain an even value when the bands are summed.

Plugin Alliance has a great selection of eminently musical, useful plugins many of which are optimized for both AAX DSP and native environments. Authorization allotments are very fair and managing auths could not be easier. Most important, the Alliance listens to users and focuses that input on innovation and product improvement.
